This timely book brings together some of the most highly respected scholars and practitioners in the consumer psychology and health communication fields to analyze how the latest research can be effectively applied to the critical public health issue of obesity.

“A very important addition to the literature. The editors should be commended for assembling such a lineup of leading researchers from multiple disciplines, representing varied perspectives.”

— Dogan Eroglu,
Associate Director for Communication Science,
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

“Provides action oriented and feasible solutions with a focus on obesity. The authors provide insights and research findings that are particularly valuable at this time, given the significant and meaningful changes facing all of us in the healthcare world.”

— Bari A. Harlam,
Senior Vice President, Marketing CVS Caremark

“Brilliantly confronts the decision-making biases we face, focusing on the power of social marketing to create innovative, realistic solutions to improve public health.”

— Jordan Goldberg,
Co-founder and CEO, stickK.com
